Our Special Hicks Run Letter

Hicks Run, Sept 10th, 1905.

DEAR MR. EDITOR:—

Thinking perhaps you would like to hear something from Hicks Run and the surrounding country, where your paper, the PRESS, has been a household word for more than a century, I write you a few lines, telling you of our prospects, prosperity and inhabitants, many of whom you were aquainted with in the days of Auld Lang Syne. Things move along smoothly with us, we obey the laws, love our wives, rear our children in the fear of the Lord, till the soil (when we can find any) and now and then go to Austin and get drunk.

We have the usual amount of prosperity that is vouchsafed to the inhabitants of the country and our school and educational privileges are good.

Longevity seems to be our inheritance, in fact at the coming fall election a vote is to be taken by the people in the district to determine who shall be sacrificed to start our new cemetery in order to keep up with the progress of the times.

Our school opened last week with a full attendance. Prof. Bigger, who has been principal for the past five years, returned from his vacation which he spent at Camp 21, fighting mosquitoes and bathing his pedal extremities in the limpid waters of North Creek.

The Prof. is a graduate from the Sinnamahoning Seminary and worked his way through college by peeling barn and killing rattlesnakes. He is a man of letters, scholarly and well read, and is now, so to speak, resting on the middle rung of his ladder of fame.

Our Star Course of lectures for the winter is assured, the subscription list being more than satisfactory. The speakers secured for the course are Vice President Fairbanks, John Wesley and Victor Hugo.

Prof. Leonard Stacks lectured before the school last evening. His subjects: "Personal recoilections of Joan of Arc and The Use of Axle Grease in the Arts," were interesting and instructive.

The Dauguscahonda Glee Club will give an entertainment on Thanksgiving evening for the benefit of the Young Ladies Guild. As singers they have lately come into prominence and their music is rag time and sacred, from the Old Apple Tree to the Holy City.

The harvest is passed and the summer is ended with us and very few have been gathered in, and as I said before we have been fairly prosperous and have no kick coming.

Abner Carpenter picked from one stalk in his buckwheat field, twenty-five solid ripe buckwheat cakes and wants to know if any one in the county can beat it. The cakes were good, first-class as your correspondent can testify, having eaten ten of them bordered with good pork gravy from a piece of pork from a hog killed on the 10th of last month by Eben Sowers, which he had been flattening since the year of the Centennial.

Andrew Rhubottom of Vineland, N. J., is visiting his son Peter. Andrew is an old time resident here and moved away years ago, his father now living in New Hampshire, was one of the men that grasped the prow of the boat and pulled it on shore, that carried Washington across the Delaware. His Uncle Abner, (his father's brother) who was at Yorktown when Cornwallis surrendered, and got gloriously drunk on apple jack in logging this fall in the Jersey Meadows for Geo. Gould, the railroad magnate. He Abner, was at one time engaged to Lydia Pinkham, but broke the engagement, because she would not give him the formula of her celebrated medicine in a marriage settlement.

Elkana Peters, is visiting his nephew, Hiram, proprietor of the Bark Peelers Exchange. Elkana is an old soldier and his reminiscenses are very interesting. He crossed the Alps with Napoleon and was in the battles of Austrelitz and Hohenlinden and afterwards at the burning of Moscow. He is a well preserved man, jet black hair, reads without glasses and has a perfect set of teeth. He amused the boys in the Post office Saturday evening by biting three ears of corn in two at once.

Malvinia Hedges who has been teacher in the primary department of our school the past year was married on Wednesday to Lysanter Becker. The wedding was quite swell. Malvina was dressed in a cheese cloth wrapper and a green glass breast pin and Lysanter wore a tan colored suit he bought on the installment plan, from Jasper Harris in Emporium. They are spending their honeymoon with Lysanter's aunt at Cross Forks.

Mrs. Mary Carpenter is visiting here. Her husband John Carpenter resided here for a long time and was very prominent in church work. He moved to Pittsburg some years ago and his wife informs me, owing to business cares and trying to keep the wolf from gnawing his back door steps, he has backslid, has given up his pew in church and is doing his sleeping at home.

Aunt Harriet Beckett drove up from Huntley last week. Aunt Harriet is as spry as a kitten and loves to tell how she used to stand in her doorway and lasso Buffalos and sell corn juice to the Indian.

Cy Carter found a nest of flying squirrels in his barn. He stopped up the knot holes through which they entered with pieces of bark and the next day an agent for the society to prevent cruelty to animals arrested him and he was taken before Squire Pingres and gave bail for his appeasance before the grand jury. Wallace Clark went his bail and mortgaged his father and mother's tomb stones in order to qualify.

Everybody is going to the county fair. Some of the people are greasing their wagons now, so as to be ready.

Algeron Snips, who is spending the summer with his aunt, Mrs. Purdy, is an artist and a poet. His crayon sketches of a bark pile and a dead milch cow hanging in the post office are creditable and very life like. Algeron says the in vernacular of the day there is something doing.

Everybody is rustling
Up and down the Run
Everybody hustling,
Going to have some fun
Everybodys Happy.
Its flying in the air,
Fresh and pure and snappy,
We are going to the fair.
Girls have got new dresses,
Hats that's just in style,
Greased up all their tresses,
They shine for half a mile,
Boys have got new sweaters
And new shoes, each a pair,
Can't hold them with fetters,
Going to the fair.
We are going to get some prizes
For the pumpkins that we bring,
We have them of all sizes,
The dwarf up to the king.
So let the band keep playin,
We will all be there
There will be no home staying,
All are going to the fair.

MUNCHAUSEN.

R. A ROBERTSON.

Why Not Emporium?

Under an act of last legislature many boroughs of this state are constructing brick or Macadam roads, the state to pay three fourths of the cost. Saltsburg, Indiana county is laying one mile of brick pavement. Why not lay a brick pavement from Buffalo Junction to connect with the road to be built by the state from the iron bridge west of town? What say you, Mr. Councilmen. Remember the old saying, "the early bird."

Recovering Slowly.

Jos. Kinsley who was thrown from one of J.W. Norris' wagons and severely injured about ten days ago, is able to be about again, yet not able to resume work. It will be some time yet before he can work.

Returned From Hospital.

Alfred Nelson returned on Saturday from Williamsport Hospital greatly improved. Mr. Nelson has been suffering from heart weakness for some time. He is one of our good citizens and we in common with our people hope he may be fully restored to health.

Emporium vs St. Marys.

One of the most interesting games of base ball will be pulled off at Keystone Park next Saturday afternoon, between St. Marys and Emporium nines. This promises to be a good game and no doubt the sports will all be on hand. Game called at 2:00 o'clock sharp.

Good Farm for Sale.

A good farm of 34 acres, all cleared and in good state of cultivation; growing orchard of fine fruit; well watered; new house and good barn. Farm located on Moore Hill, six miles from Emporium. Will sell with or without stock and utensils.

30tf. THOS. H. ARNOLD.

Republican Party Supper.

Notices and invitations are issued for a Supper to be held by the Republican voters of Cameron county, at the New Warner House, Emporium, Pa., Thursday evening, October 5th, 1905. This is to be the first of a series of Suppers to be held every year by the rank and file of the Republican Party, (each person to pay for his own ticket), and is not gotten up in the interest of any one candidate, but as an informal social gathering of all voters interested in supporting the Republican principles of Peace, Progress and Protection to home industries and home labor.

The invitation is general and all Republicans are requested to purchase their tickets early, either at the New Warner House, or from Mr. L. W. Gleason, Chairman, Driftwood, Pa. All applications for tickets should be made not later than Oct. 3d.

Who Is He?

By the placing of Mrs. Helen Carter in the County Home, another example of brutal, inhuman and despised nature of some men has been brought to light. Mrs. Carter is but 19 years of age, a bride of a few months, and is in a delicate condition. The beast whose name she bears, has deserted her, and in her pitiable condition she has to seek shelter and attention in the poor house. Carter, who is a heartless cur, and a man to whom the law should show no mercy, is said to be in the vicinity of Emporium Every effort should be made to find the fellow, and make him partially repay in suffering, the anguish he is causing the poor young woman whom he has so basely wronged. The Enterprise does not believe that any mercy should be shown a man of his stamp and no stone left unturned to bring him as near justice as the law can sanction—which the Enterprise feels would be inadequate punishment for his crime—Coudersport Enterprise.

Wedding Bells.

In their prettily furnished home on East Fifth street, Wednesday evening, Sept. 20th, by Rev. O. S. Metzler, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal Church, MR. PETER K. SCHNYDER and MISS DAISY L. CLAUDIUS, both of town, were united in marriage—Mr. George Neidlinger and Miss Lena Weisenfluh, close friends of the contracting parties, were the attendants. The parlor decorations were autumn flowers and leaves. Mr. Schnyder is a young man of excellent character and is a blacksmith in the employ of Haupt & Hauber. Miss Claudius for a number of years has resided here with relatives and is held in high esteem by all enjoying her acquaintance. A dainty lunch was served. The PRESS extends good wishes.

Hungry Negro.

Last Friday a large burly negro landed in town hungry and dry, especially dry. He first secreted himself under a bed in Cook's Hotel and was promptly kicked out, after which he managed to force an entrance into Dan'l McCormick's restaurant, pocketed some canned goods and crawled under Danl's bed, where he was found and hustled out. Policeman Mundy got after him but he succeeded in jumping a freight. He was caught at Renovo and landed in our jail, where he will remain until Oct. court as one of Sheriff Hemphill's star boarders.

Bonham-Howard.

The PRESS was correct last week when it hinted that Mr. John Taylor Howard and Mrs. Mary Seger Bonham had gone to Buffalo with the intention of uniting for life. Since we have received the announcement of their marriage, which took place last Thursday morning in the presence of a number of relatives. The PRESS joins their many friends in wishing them a long, happy and prosperous life. They will be at home after Oct. 1st.

Vote for Them Sure.

The Republican candidates for the office of County Commissioner, Messrs. John W. Lewis, of Shippen, and Samuel P. Kreider, of Driftwood, are star men and the people will see to it that they are both elected. The taxpayers of the county know they will give that attention to the affairs of the county that we sadly stand in need of. Remember, tax payers, that you vote for the above named gentlemen.

DEATH'S DOINGS.

ROBINSON.

William Robinson, aged about 31 years, who has resided at Johnsonburg for four years, was taken to Kane hospital last week Wednesday, accompanied by three children, all sick with typhoid fever. The mother, who is or was, in a delicate condition, was also down with the same disease could not be removed. Mr. Robinson and one child died on Sunday, their remains being brought to Emporium for interment. The funeral took place from St. Marks Catholic church yesterday morning, the services being conducted by the Rev. Thos. Downey.

Deceased was a son of Mr. and Mrs. William Robinson of this place, and the dire affliction has been a terrible blow to the afflicted family.

$3,000 Organ.

Emmanuel Episcopal Church Vestry met yesterday afternoon and voted to purchase a $3,000 pipe organ for their church. The old pipe organ will be placed in the Parish Building.

Box Social.

There will be a box social on Moore Hill, next Saturday evening, for the benefit of James Reed who has been laid up since last January, the result of blood poisoning. The public invited.

First in Three Years.

Raymond Klees, who recently graduated from the PRESS establishment, after three years of faithful service, is taking his first vacation in that time, visiting old friends at Williamsport and other points. Raymond is a good, honest young man and we hope will continue to improve with age.

New Building.

At a recent meeting of Emporium School Board it was decided to erect a four room addition to East ward building in order to relieve the crowded condition of our schools. The expense of this improvement or enlargement will be about $2,000. We also are informed that the district will refund its bonds at four per cent

Automobile Party.

The following Emporiumites enjoyed a visit to Austin yesterday, a number of the party using E. J. Smith's automobile: Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Andrews, Mrs. C. W. Shaffer, Mrs. Chas. Seger, Mrs. J. H. Swain, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Lloyd, Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Judd, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Goodnough, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Metzger, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. J. P. McNarney.

Millions upon millions of millers are swarming around our head, making it almost impossible to write, and extremely annoying to us who are forced to work by lamp light.

The Sinnamahoning Powder Mfg. Company are pushing work on their plant. From notices we note they expect all stock to be paid for this year. It will be ene of the best plants in the county.

Sinnamahoning, Driftwood, Sterling Run and Cameron are now connected with Emporium by 'phone. It will come in mighty handy this fall to get the election news, announcing the election of the entire Republican ticket.

What greater nuisance is there than the rum-soaked human hog—smelling like an old cabbage patch—who persists in blowing his rotton breath in your face while he pours his tale of woe into your ears? We have a few of these fellows in Emporium, and many times we would have been delighted to have "soaked" one of them with a skunk just to sweeten the atmosphere around him for a few minutes.

The Man About Town.

Merchants about town report business in a fair condition. Fruit is plenty. Peaches and oat meal have advanced a little in price but the quality is good.

Alex. McDougall has the agency for the celebrated Eureka Brand of Baking Powder—warranted not to fade or crack in any climate.

The East Ward Grocery advertises Brain Food for sale. Some people we know ought to buy it in bales or by the car load.

Henry Zarps is contemplating matrimony; he has a far-away look in his eyes, and goes around whistling: "I Need Thee Every Hour."

Jasper Harris says "when two persons embark on the sea of matrimony, sooner or later one of them will rock the boat."

The young man who sat with his girl—the other evening—on the side hill, above the court house, and gazed at the moon and sang "When the leaves begin to fall" and when a dog barked back in the woods, went head-first through a barbed wire fence and left his girl to climb a tree, can get the coat-tails he left in the fence by calling on Sheriff Hemphill.

Mike Hogan says: "when a dog turns and looks at his tail he sees his finish."

Twelve year-old candy is on sale in most of the stores.

Dr. Zelie extracted a molar for a Salt Run native, Sunday that was a corker. He is going to send it to the Smithsonian Institute to fill a cavity in the jaw of a mastodon.

The Hunks had a christening in their domicile near the Furnace, Tuesday afternoon. Henry Kraft's Hop Juice furnished the music. Italian Opera wasn't a marker to it.

Pat Kilday of St. Charles is a genial bonni face and his patronage is booming. In the mixing department he dispenses mighty good dizziness.

Ed. Blinzler says he has positive evidence that barbers are employed in Heaven—they trim the Saints whiskes.

Eminent physicians say we should lie on the right side. Brother Hockley of the Independent says he can not see how a man can do it and edit a Democratic paper.

Church goers had a rare treat Sunday evening in hearing Rev. Metzler's sermon on "the fear of Belteshazzer and Daniel's interpretation of the handwriting on the wall." We know of several persons to whom the interpretation would apply. If they were weighed they would be found wanting and they are divided in their affections sure.

Dr. Ericsson the organist in the M. E. church says the time is surely coming when Rag Time music will not be sung at church socials.

Judge Brennan wears for a scarf-pin an original piece of the Blarney Stone. The Judge remembers distinctly when William and Mary rode through the streets of Doublin on a jaunting car.

The Pennsylvania Rail Road is going to install a phonograph at the depot so that Parker Jackson's voice may be preserved to posterity.

Song of the St. Marys Gas Co.—
Peter, Peter, pumpkin eater,
We have the gas, we have the meter;
No use of your kicking, Pete,
Well you know we have you beat;
Take your medicine, drink it down:
Freeze to death or get out of town.

"Ole Olson" the quaint and natural comedy drama in which the Swedish type of character was first made use of for stage purposes will be played here at the Opera House, Thursday evening, Sept. 21st. The Swedish dialect comedy has taken its place as a fun maker by the side of the German, Irish and Yiddish dialect plays and Ole Olson is easily the most interesting and pleasing of this style of dramatic work. The character is presented with natural dignity and a full appreciation of comedy effects. The play of course centers around "Ole" and the cool and unruffled manner in which he baffles the schemes of the villain; never fails to get rounds of applause. The company that will present the comedy here is an excellent one in every respect and is under the direction of Ben Hendricks, who plays "Ole." During the performance Mr. Hendricks will sing six new songs: "Fair Land of Sweden," "Northland Lullaby," "A Swagger Swedish Swell," "Strawberries," and "Open Your Mouth and Shut Your Eyes."

Women in Science.

Advocates of women's rights will doubtless rejoice at the support afforded them by science. For, from a general review of the facts of development and anatomy of various invertebrate and vertebrate animals, Mr. T. H. Montgomery concludes that the male is the less developed and more embryonic. And in those cases where the male appears superior it is shown that the difference is mainly in unimportant morphological characters. When one sex is rudimentary in comparison with the other it is pointed out that this is almost always the male. In size, again, the female usually has the superiority. Sometimes also the central nervous system is more highly specialized in the female, while the internal reproductive apparatus is also usually more complex. Summing up the evidence, Mr. Montgomery contends that among invertebrates and the lower vertebrates the female is clearly superior. In the higher vertebrates the female is still superior, though in a lesser degree. In connection with this superiority of the female it may be noted that many species of insects appear to be able to do without males for a whole generation. The gall flies, for example, which issue from the spangles falling from the oak leaves in autumn, are all females. These females lay their eggs on the oak tree and produce an entirely different kind of gall, viz., the currant gall. From these issue male and female gall flies of a different form—and formerly looked upon as another species—which reproduce the spangles on the oak leaves. So from the female aphis on the rosebush will proceed several generations before a male is required. The unmated queen bee, again, will lay fertile eggs, which, however, produce only drones.

The Exceptional Man.

Progressive employers are always looking for the exceptional man or woman, the one who can step out from the crowd and do things in an original way, who can economize in processes, who can facilitate business. They are always looking for the earmarks of leadership, of superior ability. They are looking for the progressive employe with new ideas who can help them to be more of a success. They know very well, says a writer in Success Magazine, that they can get any number of automatons—multitudes who will do a thing just well enough to keep their places—but they are looking for originality, individuality, for up-to-date methods. They want employes who can put things through with vigor and determination, without lagging, whining, apologizing, or asking questions. Nothing can bar the advancement of employes of this kind. Nobody can keep them down. If by chance some one above you is actually trying to prevent your promotion for selfish reasons, it ought to be very flattering to you to know that he is trying to keep you back, and should make you all the more determined to get ahead. It is a pretty good indication that there is some reason for his fear, and that you have material in you for a better place. This should encourage you to redouble your efforts to do your work so well, to stamp such superiority upon everything you touch, to acquit yourself so much better than the man who is trying to keep you down—to be so much pleasanter, so much more of a man, that it will be only a question of time when you will get the position you are striving for, or perhaps a better one.

At the first dinner she gave in Hampden House, London, Mrs. Potter Palmer staggered everybody by leading the way into the dining-room. At first her guests thought Mrs. Palmer had acted absent-mindedly, but she continued the practice so inaugurated. In England the hostess invariably goes into the dining-room last, but several of Mrs. Palmer's friends hope that her example will become the fashion in London, holding that it is obviously more sensible for the hostess to enter the room first in order to correct any mistakes in the "order of sitting" before the guests begin to flounder around the table in search of their names.

TRADE FACTS AND FIGURES

Showing Which Negatives the Contention Concerning Overproduction.

In a well considered and ably written article in the Philadelphia North American Charles Heber Clark exposes the fallacy, not to say false pretense, of the contention embodied in the platform of the American reciprocal tariff league to the effect that because of the vast expansion of our industries they are suffering from overproduction and must have a foreign outlet for the surplus. The facts of trade, both domestic and foreign, completely refute this contention, says the American Economist. The North American points out the increase of more than 20 per cent. in our population in the past ten years and the doubling of the consumption of important staple products such as iron, coal and petroleum within the same period. The increase of demand has been greater than the increase of population. The same is true as to agricultural products. In 1881 we consumed 300,000,000 bushels of wheat, in 1904 517,000,000 bushels and in 1905 we shall have consumed close to 600,000,000 bushels. Exports of foodstuffs fell off in 1904 and 1905 because more was consumed at home and the consequent higher range of prices made it more difficult for low paid foreign workers to take and pay for our cereals and meats.

Domestic manufacturers have made substantial gains in their export trade. From being less than one-sixth of our total exports in 1879, manufactures have grown to more than one-third of our exports in 1905. All this time the home demand for manufactures has increased at a tremendous rate. That the home demand has gone beyond the home supply must be accepted as true in the light of our $600,000,000 of dutiable and competitive imports in 1905.

For the fiscal year closing with June 30, 1905, we took from foreigners more than $50,000,000 worth of cotton manufactures, more than $40,000,000 of manufactures of fibers, more than $32,000,000 of silk manufactures, more than $28,000,000 of manufactures of iron and steel, more than $18,000,000 of woolen manufactures, more than $13,000,000 of earthen, stone and china wares and so on down through the list. The fact that we made these enormous purchases abroad, a total of $600,000,000, negatives the contention that our domestic industrialists are in a bad way because of overproduction. The truth is they are finding a better market at home—a market that is increasing enormously year by year—than they could possibly find abroad.

STATISTICS DISPUTE THEM

Assertion of Reciprocity Theorists Set at Naught by Government Figures.

The theorists say the country is suffering from the effects of the tariff. They declare that other nations will not buy our manufactured goods and that we are being boycotted in every direction. They tell a tale of woe that would make the average man think the country was going to destruction on a down grade, says the Moline (Ill.) Dispatch. And just when a convention is about to meet that all these tales of woe may be united in a grand chorus the government has the effrontery to give out this compilation of statistics showing that the theorists are talking through their hats and without any proper knowledge of the facts in the case.

Now it is unquestionably true that if some branches of industry could have free trade in the material that goes into their goods they might be able to produce them more cheaply. If at the same time the prosperity of the country could be kept up by a tariff on other goods they might be able to sell more goods and thus reap a greater profit. But if there is to be a reduction in one line there will have to be reductions in other lines, and the total result will be what it was in 1893: there will be general distress and no market for the goods that have been made of cheaper materials.

The fact is that the general prosperity of the country is the first thing to be considered and not the improvement of any special interests. When the country as a whole is prosperous it is the fault of the manufacturer if he does not get his share of it. When every man can have work it is the fault of the workman if he has not the skill to command the highest wages. Today the conditions are such that all are doing well. If the free list can be manipulated to give us some trade benefits with other countries it will be well to so manipulate it. But no industry in the United States that has any promise of success should be crippled for the sake of possible gain to some other industry.

☞We have an ugly problem to handle because of the trade hostility of several European countries in providing an outlet for some of our surplus manufactures; but we are not prepared to accept the dogma that it can be met by a revision of the tariff by congress, either under the guise of tariff reform or of a dual tariff.—Cincinnati Star.

☞It may be that economic wisdom for this country lies in the direction of a maximum and minimum tariff. But it is decidedly unsafe to jump hastily to such a conclusion.—N. Y. Sun.

☞There is not a democratic tariff reformer who cannot be made to take to his heels if he is asked if he is in favor of reducing American wages, and if he knows how the tariff can be reduced without reducing them. No matter how fallacious or disingenuous that style of argument may it, it has a deadly effect upon tariff reform agitation whenever it is advanced.—N. Y. Globe.

STIRS UP FRUIT GROWERS.

California Orchards Raise a Strenuous Protest Against the Reciprocal Idea.

The fruit growers of California, situated as they are at such a distance from the large consuming markets, which are in most instances 2,000 to 3,000 miles away, are subjected to a tariff in the way of freight transportation which necessarily for so great distance overland must be heavy, that makes it necessary that they have the full measure of protection provided by a highly protective tariff to enable them successfully to develop the large and important industry they are at present conducting with any profit to themselves. In fact they must have this in many cases in order to be in business at all, says the Fruit Grower.

Up to this time there have been few reciprocity arrangements either entered into, arranged for or contemplated, that have not sacrificed the fruit, wine or agricultural interests of California to a greater or less extent. Naturally, to reciprocate, this country must in obtaining concessions from other countries give concessions to them, and it has usually been the case that the concessions that they have wanted and that it has been most easy for us to grant, owing to the relatively unimportant position that California occupies in national politics, have been on importations of fruits and wines. Should a reciprocity policy be contemplated between this and any other country the horticultural and agricultural interests of this state must be up and doing and see to it that they are not sacrificed on the altar of their larger and more important brethren in more populous districts. It may be argued that some countries, particularly at this time Germany, contemplate a very large discrimination against us by highly increased duties on fruit imports and that California will accordingly suffer. Be this as it may, our home market is the most important and must not be allowed to be invaded.

WILL STICK TO MAXIMUM.

The Reciprocal Dodge Will Not Work Where Prosperity Is Widespread.

It is not in a period of general prosperity that a people set about works of reform. There was a deal of human nature in the declaration of that Arkansas gentleman that when the weather was fine his cabin did not need a roof.

That is what the republican party is going to remark, says the Trenton (N. J.) Gazette, when congress meets—that in times of prosperity the tariff needs no revision. The crops are fine. Kansas alone raises 80,000,000 bushels of wheat this year. The corn crop promises an immense yield, and that means fat cattle, fat hogs, fat live stock of all sorts. These mean freights for railroads and work for many tens of thousands.

With the farmer prosperous and labor employed the stand-patters will be monstrously independent when the tariff is mentioned in the Fifty-ninth congress.

Reciprocity is dead—everywhere except in Massachusetts and Chicago; but there will be some remarkable speeches made on the new dodge—the maximum and the minimum.

The enormous crops of this year, says the Washington Post, will postpone tariff revision for at least two years, and for the past 30 years the g. o. p. has assumed all credit for good crops and laid all the bad crops on the democrats.

The Fifty-ninth congress has no more intention of tinkering with the tariff than it has of reestablishing 16 to 1.

CRITICISM AND COMMENT.

☞Protective or reciprocal? A tariff may be either one or the other. It cannot be both.—American Economist.

☞One of the democratic newspapers of Ohio announces that if the election were held to-morrow the democrats would carry that state. This has a time-worn and familiar sound.—Philadelphia Press.

☞The democrats cannot be expected to take much interest in the proposition to change the date of the presidential inauguration to April 30. All weather looks alike to them.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

☞The Washington Post thinks it likely the tariff revisionists of the republican party will act with the democrats in attempting to force a reduction of the tariff. Not unlikely, but their return to congress afterward is unlikely.—Salem (Ore.) Statesman.

☞There is much to be said for reciprocity, but there is vastly more to be said for protection of American industries. To assail those who honestly and with the prosperity of the past as their certificate are contending that the protective principle shall not be weakened, and that all changes in the tariff must be subordinate to the preservation of the rights of American labor, is not only unjustifiable but will have something of the characteristics of a boomerang.—Troy Times.

☞A dual tariff is by its very definition a duel tariff. It means war to the death, and it can in the nature of things mean nothing else.—Boston Traveler.

☞Among the indications of prosperity do not fail to note the fact that the 700 employes of the Fahys watch case manufactory in Sag Harbor have been notified that in view of the large increase of orders, which must be filled without delay, the usual Saturday half holiday has been suspended indefinitely. When there is a rush for watches the people have money in their pockets.—Brooklyn Times.

REMOVED HIM FROM OFFICE

A SHORTAGE OF OVER $130,000

It Is Alleged to Exist in the Auditor's Office—Sherrick Tenders His Resignation—He Is Unable to Pay the Shortage—Forgery Is Hinted At.

Indianapolis, Sept. 15.—Alleging that David E. Sherrick, auditor of state, is guilty of "a plain and inexcusable violation of the law and a gross betrayal of public trust" in that he invested funds belonging to the state in private affairs, to the extent of about $135,000, Gov. Hanly yesterday issued an order in which he took cognizance of a vacancy in the office and appointed Warren Bigler, of Wabash, as his successor. This amounts to a removal of Mr. Sherrick by the governor.

The governor gave Sherrick until noon Thursday to make his settlement. This was not done and the governor after having asked for Sherrick's resignation three times, effected the demand.

In a formal statement issued relative to the matter the governor says he has been investigating the conditions in the auditor's office since the last of August, having received information that Sherrick had not made the July settlement for the state's funds which had accumulated from January 1 to July 1, 1905. He immediately asked for a settlement, which was made. This amount was about $235,000.

In addition to this amount the auditor in his statement to the governor admitted that he was at that time chargeable with state funds paid in since the July settlement, amounting to $145,197.80, for which he filed a schedule enumerating the assets he had to meet this amount which he owed to the state. These items included notes, stocks and securities amounting to $152,883.33, of which, according to the governor's letter, only $37,355.01 could be realized on.

At the time that his analysis of the assets submitted by Sherrick was made, the governor requested Sherrick to resign. The resignation was not forthcoming. The governor requested that Sherrick turn over to John E. Reed, the settlement clerk in the auditor's office, the securities enumerated, and this was done. The governor also demanded that settlement to the extent of $145,197.80 be made with the state by noon yesterday and on being advised by "persons whom he thought to be in a position to know" that the settlement could not be made, he again sent a message, this time verbal, requesting Sherrick to resign. At noon this request had not been complied with and it was repeated. Not being complied with, the governor entered an executive order finding the existence of a vacancy and appointing Bigler.

Later Sherrick sent his resignation to Gov. Hanly, who accepted it and entered an order appointing Warren Bigler to the office of state auditor.

Indianapolis, Sept. 16.—David E. Sherrick, ex-auditor of state, was registered at the police station Friday morning, charged with embezzlement of the state's funds. He waived examination in police court, Judge Whallon postponing the hearing as to the amount of Sherrick's bond until 2 p. m. In the meantime Sherrick was under guard of a detective.

In the afternoon Sherrick reappeared before Judge Whallon, who held him to await the action of the grand jury and fixed his bond at $15,000. Several of Sherrick's friends were present and he furnished the required security and was released.

Investigation of the securities which were placed in the hands of the governor tends to show that they are of sufficient value to protect the state, if taken with the $100,000 bond of the American Surety Co.

YANKEE BOAT ESCAPED.

An American Fishing Tug Is Struck by Shots Fired from a Canadian Cruiser on Lake Erie.

Erie, Pa., Sept. 15.—While fishing near the boundary line in Lake Erie Thursday afternoon, the fish tug William J. McCarter, a small boat of 15 tons, was struck twice by shots from the Canadian cruiser Vigilant in the efforts of the Canadians to compel the tug to stop and surrender. Capt. Frank Handy, the engineer and four other men were on the tug, but they determined to escape and made the run home in their damaged boat. The tug was struck once near the water line, but the hull was only dented. The second shot knocked over "the iron man," a piece of machinery used in hauling in nets. The men were not hurt.

The boat sustained such small damage that just before dark Capt. Handy started out again to pick up the nets he left behind. The captain said he was in American waters when the shots were fired.

Davenport, Ia., Sept. 15.—Meddie Derby, a school teacher, was shot and killed near Wilton, Ia., yesterday at the country school which she taught. Arthur Webb, who had been paying attentions to her, killed her because she would not marry him. Webb was chased by a posse, and to escape capture committed suicide by shooting.

THE EIGHT-HOUR WAR.

Struggle of Printers for a Shorter Work Day Is an Important Event.

Chicago, Sept. 15.—The alternative of fighting a general strike of printers or signing an agreement to grant the Typographical union's demand for the eight-hour day and closed shop conditions, beginning January 1, was presented Thursday to every book and job printing establishment here not already involved in the compositors' walkout. Each steward, who is the union's representative in the office where he is employed, was armed with authority to call the printers on strike immediately if the demands were refused.

A meeting of independent employing printers held in the afternoon in the Grand Pacific hotel in response to a call from the Typothetae and independent printers who wished to organize to fight the demands of the union was attended by 135 officials of Chicago printing establishments. The result of the meeting was practically a declaration of war against the union.

An expression was called for in regard to the demands made by the union. All but six of the 125 printers present declared themselves as representing establishments which would refuse to accede to the demands of the union. A list of these persons was taken by the chair and a committee was appointed to draw up a set of resolutions which, after being signed by the employers refusing to grant the union's demands, will unite the independent printers in a common cause against the union.

During the day more than 50 small, independent establishments on whom the union made demands agreed to the proposals presented by the union. One hundred men in eight large establishments were added to the strikers' ranks.

St. Louis, Sept. 15.—The threatened strike for an eight-hour day in job printing offices by members of the St. Louis Typographical union was begun here Thursday. Printers in eight offices were called out by President Jackson, of local union No. 8. Jackson said that about 175 printers stopped work. He also stated that out of the 140 printing firms in St. Louis 60 had signed the eight-hour scale.

Topeka, Kan., Sept. 15.—The union job printers of this city were called out on strike yesterday for an eight-hour day. Two of the five offices, those of two weekly newspapers which are members of the Typothetae, surrendered at once to the demands of the union.

Niagara Falls, N. Y., Sept. 15.—At a meeting yesterday of the Employers' Association of Niagara Falls, representing $30,000,000 of invested capital, it was resolved to stand by the newspaper publishers of this city in their fight against the striking printers. Liberal bonuses will be offered by the association to printers who will work for the newspapers.

WERE KILLED AT SUNSET.

Three Civil Engineers Were Run Down by a Work Train on the Lackawanna Railroad.

Cortland, N. Y., Sept. 14.—Three young civil engineers in the employ of the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Railroad Co. were killed by a work train last night while returning to Cortland on a hand car. They were J. M. Rowe, of Binghamton, N. Y.; H. O. Biesecker, of Lestershire, N. Y., and J. R. Funk, of Binghamton.

The three engineers arrived here Wednesday morning and had spent the day at work on the Cincinnatus division of the Lackawanna railroad. Completing their labors they boarded a hand car and began the journey to Cortland.

When three miles from here they were overtaken by a work train also bound for this city. The engine of the work train was in the rear and a watchman was stationed on the forward car to keep a sharp lookout on the track ahead.

The watchman said the train was running due west at the time of the accident and that he could not see the hand car.

The engineers did not see the approaching train in time to jump, and they were killed almost instantly.

A YOUTHFUL DEGENERATE.

He Sent Infernal Machines Through the Mails, Set Fire to a School and Practiced Burglary.

New York, Sept. 14. — Thomas French, an East Orange, N. J., youth, who was arrested by postoffice inspectors, confessed to the police yesterday that he had sent threatening letters and three infernal machines to Valentine Riker, an insurance official, who also resides in East Orange. The boy, who is 17 years of age, said he sent the machines as a joke; that he got the idea from reading of such devices in the New York newspapers and anticipated the pleasure of reading about the experience of some one who received a machine of his own construction.

French also confessed to having set a public school building and a neighbor's barn on fire, and said he had practiced at burglary in his own home, frightening his mother and sisters badly. Application has been made for a commission to inquire into the youth's sanity.

Leiter Discharges His Mine Guards.

Duquoin, Ill., Sept. 14.—Joseph Leiter yesterday relieved from duty the entire force of guards at the Zeigler mines. The property is now without an armed guard, for the first time since the exciting days which followed the miners' strike inaugurated about a year ago.

The Earth Still Trembles.

Rome, Sept. 14.—Three fresh shocks of earthquake have caused considerable damage at Cosenza. The law courts at Catanzaro threaten to collapse.

STOP, WOMAN!

AND CONSIDER THE ALL-IMPORTANT FACT

That in addressing Mrs. Pinkham you are confiding your private ills to a woman—a woman whose experience with women's diseases covers a great many years.

You can talk freely to a woman when it is revolting to relate your private troubles to a man—besides a man does not understand—simply because he is a man.

Many women suffer in silence and drift along from bad to worse, knowing full well that they ought to have immediate assistance, but a natural modesty impels them to shrink from exposing themselves to the questions and probably examinations of even their family physician. It is unnecessary. Without money or price you can consult a woman whose knowledge from actual experience is great.

Mrs. Pinkham's Standing Invitation.

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. All letters are received, opened, read and answered by women only. A woman can freely talk of her private illness to a woman; thus has been established the eternal confidence between Mrs. Pinkham and the women of America which has never been broken. Out of the vast volume of experience which she has to draw from, it is more than possible that she has gained the very knowledge that will help your case. She asks nothing in return except your good-will, and her advice has relieved thousands. Surely any woman, rich or poor, is very foolish if she does not take advantage of this generous offer of assistance.

If you are ill, don't hesitate to get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once, and write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for special advice.

When a medicine has been successful in restoring to health so many women, you cannot well say, without trying it, "I do not believe it will help me."

SEVEN PEOPLE BURN TO DEATH

EXLOSION OF FUSE IN A FACTORY AT AVON, CONN., RESULTED IN DEATH AND PANIC.

SPECTATORS COULD GIVE NO AID

Injuries of Several of Those Hurt During the Panic May Prove Fatal—Horrible Sights Witnessed During the Fire.

Avon, Conn., Sept. 16.—The explosion of a fuse, followed by a fire in a building of the Climax Fuse Co. here Friday afternoon caused a panic among 20 employes in the building and resulted in the death of seven and injuries that may prove fatal to several others. There was no way of coping with the flames, which spread rapidly, and in less than an hour after the explosion occurred those who were unable to escape were in the clutch of the fire that burned their bodies to ashes.

As the day wore on the great crowd that collected in the hamlet saw the bodies of men and women roasting in the fire and were powerless to even check the flames. The dead:

William Burke, 40 years old, married.
James Joyce, about 38, married.
Robert McCarthy, aged 18.
James Wallace, married.
Molly McCarthy.
Mrs. J. Sullivan.
Mrs. M. B. Tucker.

The exact cause of the accident may never be known, but it is the accepted theory here that in an effort to burn out a stoppage in one of the machines a workman caused an explosion of a fuse with the hot iron he held in his hand. Those who were in the room where the explosion occurred say that the explosion was not severe and ordinarily would not have caused a panic. Inflammable material, however, was set on fire and in a few moments the room was a mass of flames. In an instant there was a mad rush for the doors and windows and during the scramble many were pushed back into the flames and severely burned.

PERKINS WOKE THEM UP.

Vice President of the New York Life Insurance Co. Tells of Big Contributions to Campaign Funds.

New York, Sept. 16.—George W. Perkins, member of the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co., and first vice president of the New York Life Insurance Co., was the star witness at Friday's session of the legislative committee probing life insurance companies' methods and his testimony was replete with revelations in the development of finance as applied by insurance companies.

The climax of the day came when Mr. Perkins was asked concerning an entry of $48,702 in a ledger, marked "Ordered Paid by the President." Mr. Mr. Randolph, the treasurer of the New York Life Co., who had been on the stand earlier in the day, had been sharply questioned as to the purport of this entry, but he was unable to explain it. He thought no one but the president could. Mr. Perkins had been called to testify as to some other transactions and after a recess he was asked to produce the check. It was made out payable to J. P. Morgan & Co., and Mr. Perkins stated it was a contribution to the national republican campaign committee in 1904 and had been paid to Cornelius N. Bliss. Mr. Perkins said:

"This payment was made after very careful deliberation. It must not be considered an ordinary contribution to the campaign fund. It was paid because we felt the assets of the New York Life Insurance Co. would be jeopardized by a democratic success."

Mr. Perkins said contributions were also made in 1900 and in 1896. As an illustration witness said the first contribution made was in 1896, by President McCall, who is a democrat. "He contributed to the McKinley campaign fund and voted for McKinley because he felt it was in the best interests of the policy holders of his company."

DUN'S REVIEW OF TRADE.

Industrial, Commercial and Agricultural Progress Very Satisfactory.

New York, Sept. 16.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says:

Industrial, commercial and agricultural progress continues satisfactory. Nothing has occurred to weaken confidence, the disposition being to extend plans further into the future and many plants have their facilities engaged further into the year. As demand broadens there is a natural tendency to enlarge capacity, which adds to the already exceptional structural activity.

Each week brings better news from the iron and steel industry, demand broadening and production keeping pace.

Failures this week numbered 194 in the United States, against 224 last year, and 29 in Canada, compared with 21 a year ago.

Canucks Seize Another Fishing Tug.

WARSHIP AND 256 LIVES LOST

THE JAPANESE BATTLESHIP MIKASA IS DESTROYED BY FIRE AND AN EXPLOSION.

WAS ADMIRAL TOGO'S FLAGSHIP

Togo Was Not on Board the Ship at the Time the Disaster Occurred—The Big Warship Was at Anchor in Sasebo Harbor when Fire Started.

Tokio, Sept. 13.—The navy department announces that the battleship Mikasa has been destroyed by fire and the explosion of her magazine, causing the loss of 599 lives, including men of other ships who went to the rescue.

The fire started from an unknown cause at midnight on Sunday night. Before the officers could be rescued the fire reachd the aft magazine, which exploded, blowing a hole in the port side of the vessel, below the water line and causing the ship to sink.

The disaster to the battleship Mikasa has cast a gloom everywhere. The Mikasa was Togo's flagship and was endeared to the hearts of the people. The ship was at anchor in Sasebo harbor when the fire started at the base of the main mast. It spread with great rapidity, exploding the after magazine one hour after the fire had been discovered. The Mikasa sank in shallow water and it is believed the ship can be repaired. Rescuing parties were sent from the various warships in the harbor and there were heavy casualties among them.

Great relief was felt throughout Japan when if was learned that Admiral Togo was not on board the ship at the time of the fire.

Washington, Sept. 14.—The bureau of naval intelligence has received advices from the American naval attache at Tokio to the effect that the loss in killed and missing on the battleship Mikasa was 256. The wounded numbered 343.

STRUCK PAY DIRT.

A Sensational Exposure of Jugglers in Life Insurance Finance Is Made by the New York Investigators.

New York, Sept. 13.—Selling $800,000 in bonds one day and buying them back the next, but one holiday intervening, in order to keep within statements made in the New York Life Insurance Co.'s report to the superintendent of insurance, was the sensational disclosure made Tuesday at the session of the legislative insurance investigating committee. The fact was drawn from Edmund D. Randolph, treasurer of the New York Life Insurance Co., late in the day, after Attorney Hughes, of counsel to the committee, had labored for over an hour to get a distinct answer from Mr. Randolph to a direct inquiry.

Earlier in the day Mr. Randolph had handed Mr. Hughes a schedule of syndicate underwritings of the New York Life for the last ten years. This statement was to show, and a foot note to the schedule so stated, that the company had participated in no syndicate transactions that had been closed out with a loss. Among these syndicate transactions was the underwriting of the International Mercantile Marine Co.

Mr. Hughes drew from the witness that there was an aggregate of $4,000,000 which the New York Life paid J. P. Morgan & Co. on this joint account.

Must Select a New Ticket.

Philadelphia, Sept. 13.—As a result of the recent political upheaval in this city the county ticket nominated by the republicans last spring, prior to Mayor Weaver's fight against the gas lease, was withdrawn yesterday and a new ticket will be selected by the city committee. The total number of voters in Philadelphia according to the September canvass, the complete returns of which were announced yesterday, is 339,960, a decrease of 35,810 compared with the canvass made in May, prior to the gas lease fight. After Mayor Weaver's break with the republican organization, the mayor and reform organizations had a canvass made of the voters of the city to eliminate from the voting lists all fictitious names.

A Double Tragedy.

Washington, Sept. 13.—Two men dead and a woman seriously wounded was the result of a shooting affair last night in southeast Washington. The dead are George T. Morgan and Charles Souder. Lillian J. Souder, wife of the latter, was wounded. Scuder and his wife were not living together and the woman was living at the place where Morgan boarded. The police theory is that Souder shot and killed Morgan, shot his wife and then committed suicide.

Cossacks Slaughtered Socialists.

Tiflis, Caucasia, Sept. 13.—Many social democrats were killed or wounded Monday night in a conflict with Cossacks at the town hall and many were trampled to death in a subsequent panic. Two thousand social democrats had forced an entrance into the hall.

NOW IS THE TIME TO PAINT.

Important Memorandum.—The painter is the most important factor in painting. A job complete, done by a good painter, with the best quality of paint, costing say $60.00 ($40.00 labor, $20.00 paint), will last five years. The same paint applied by a dauber ($20.00 labor, $20.00 paint), will last only two years. Thus the "per-year-cost" of the good painter's job is $12.00—the "per-year-cost" of the dauber's job is $20.00.

Above all, USE GOOD PAINT!

The oil! linseed oil! Just pure linseed is the "life"—the one great requisite of good paint for which there is no substitute—and the sure way to get the pure, fresh linseed oil is to buy the oil and separately. For every gallon of Kinloch Paint buy one gallon of linseed oil. This makes two gallons of paint, ready for use. You then know that the paint you're putting on your house is alive—"the genuine oil is in it," and paint is not paint unless it contains 50% of really pure oil. We will further explain the virtues of Kinloch Paint if you will call and see us.

Cow Eats Six Pounds of Dynamite.

NEW CASTLE, Ind., Sept. 15.—Chris Benzenhowser's cow, Liza, has a whole field to herself since she ate five or six pounds of dynamite. Her owner, who is a famer near New Castle, believes she is about to blow up and he doesn't want any of the rest of his stock to be injured by flying fragments of Liza when she explodes.

The cow was strolling along the bank of the creek, where some men were excavating, when she saw the dynamite, tasted it, liked it, and swallowed the entire visible supply. One of the workmen saw the last stick disappear.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, Ohio. Sold by Druggists, 75c. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

INSURGENT FLINGS RESENTED

From the Pulpit and Bench, In the Business World and Among the Wage Earners, Republican Nominee Is Commended.

Nothing has occurred in the history of local politics in this section during recent years to create such a thorough storm of indignation among the people of this locality, says a special from Altoona to the Philadelphia Inquirer, as did the unjust attack made in a speech delivered by O. H. Hewit, of Hollidaysburg, before the meeting of the Lincoln Party committee, held in Philadelphia and aimed directly against his fellow-townsman, J. Lee Plummer, the Republican nominee for state treasurer of Pennsylvania.

Mr. Hewit's remarks reflecting upon Mr. Plummer's standing in the community were promptly resented by some of the most prominent men in Blair county, irrespective of their political affiliations.

Citizens of Hollidaysburg were particularly incensed at the attack made upon Mr. Plummer and were quick to speak their minds on the subject. Mr. Hewit declares that he was misquoted, but whether he was correctly reported or not, citizens generally hereabouts have taken occasion to vent their indignation at the wrong done Mr. Plummer, about whose standing in the community there is but one opinion. It is of the very highest.

The esteem in which Mr. Plummer is held may be gathered from a few public statements made to a representative of the Philadelphia Inquirer.

From Judge and Pastor.

President Judge Martin Bell says: "I have known J. Lee Plummer intimately for 25 years. He is a model husband and father, and his private character has been pure and free from all taint of wrong-doing. His honesty and integrity, both as a citizen and lawyer, are unquestioned in this community."

Rev. George S. Woomer, pastor of the First M. E. Church of Hollidaysburg, where Mr. Plummer attends, is quoted: "For more than two years I have been a resident of Hollidaysburg and the pastor of the First Methodist church located in this town. Hon. J. Lee Plummer is a member of the church and a regular attendant at the church services. He is one of the trustees of the church, and for nine years has been the secretary and treasurer of the board. He has the confidence and esteem of the church membership and of the community at large. His private life and character are above reproach and his family life is ideal He holds my confidence and esteem as a man and as a Christian minister."

John D. Blair, a prominent lawyer, says: "Mr. Plummer is one of our best citizens. He has always been industrious, upright, honest and honorable. A man of the very highest morals. I know of no one to whom I would trust my private affairs more implicitly than to Mr. Plummer. Acquainted with the trials of one who has never lost his close sympathy with the struggling masses, the people of Blair county by repeated ballot have borne testimony of their estimate of his worth. His friends are of the very best people of this community and their ardent support of him is the evidence of their esteem."

Of Unimpeachable Integrity.

W. I. Woodcock, a prominent member of the bar, states: "I have been intimately acquainted with Mr. Plummer. He read law in my office. He is a man of unimpeachable integrity and unassailable moral character. He is strictly temperate, being an active member of the Methodist church."

Rev. P. Verliker, of St. Mark's Catholic church, frankly said: "He is a gentleman from first to last. He is a good neighbor, a good citizen and considered so by all with whom I have come in contact. Both Republicans and Democrats here hold him in high esteem. The local citizens generally are willing to give him their support and anxious to see his election to the high office of the state treasurer. He is first among the first gentlemen of this borough and morally as well as otherwise a most respected resident."

J. A. B. Melvin, president of the Altoona Trust company, has this frank interview: "I have intimately known J. Lee Plummer about 22 years. I have lived a neighbor with him 18 years, nine of which have been on the same lawn, therefore have knowledge of his daily life during all these years. He has been uniformly kind and obliging and in every possible way has been to me a desirable neighbor. He is today and always has been a respected citizen of the town. He has been careful in his daily life. He is a member and official of the Methodist church, and won his way to present position of prominence through native ability, aided by such good qualities as named above."

J. King McLanaghan, Sr., president of the McLanaghan Stone Machine company, has this to say: "I have never heard anything derogatory to Mr. Plummer, and always found him to be an honest, upright citizen. I believe he will make an efficient state treasurer, and in my opinion the people of Hollidaysburg, irrespective of politics, intend to vote for him."

"The People Like Him."

P. W. Snyder, a well-known druggist, says: "Mr. Plummer is an honest, upright citizen, and has the respect of the residents of Hollidaysburg. He is a man among men, and socially he is the equal of any person known here to my acquaintance. The people of Hollidaysburg like him, but, like other men in public life, he has some political enemies. I believe he will receive a magnificent vote in this town and county."

From Wage Earner and Merchant.

John A. Filtz, a well-known wage-earner of Hollidaysburg, candidly says: "I believe I am only voicing the sentiment of the working people when stating that no man is better liked or more popular here than J. Lee Plummer. He is friendly and courteous, and well thought of by all."

Frank Glessner, a leading merchant, says: "Mr. Plummer is a man of good moral character, an excellent citizen and in my opinion the people here can only speak of him in highest terms and respect."

Charles Hartsock, an aged engineer, who is past 72 years, says: "I have known Mr. Plummer for 32 years, and in my estimation there is not a more honest or popular man in Blair county."

John H. Law, a leading merchant and Democrat, is quoted: "I consider J. Lee Plummer to be one of the fairest men in the county. His dealings with the people are characterized by truth and honesty. Morally he is one of the cleanest men I ever knew. I am a Democrat, but will vote for him because I know he is honest."

These expressions come virtually spontaneously from the people of Hollidaysburg, where J. Lee Plummer, the candidate for state treasurer, resides. They form a tribute which emphasizes his true worth and character.

A Laxative Cough Syrup.

"A cold or cough nearly always produces constipation—the water all runs to the eyes, nose and throat, instead of passing out of the system through the liver and the kidneys. For the want of moisture the bowels become dry and hard." Kennedy's Laxative Honey and Tar is the original Laxative Cough Syrup. It meets and corrects the above conditions, by acting as a pleasant cathartic on the bowels—expels all colds from the system and cures all coughs, croup, whooping cough, LaGrippe, bronchitis, etc Sold by R. C., says: "For years, my wife suffered intensely from dyspepsia, complicated with a torpid liver, until she lost her strength and vigor, became a mere wreck of her former self. Then she tried Electric Bitters; which helped her at once, and finally made her entirely well. She is now strong and healthy." L. Taggart druggist, sells and guarantees them, at 50c a bottle.

Every time a man makes love to his wife he makes a profitable investment.

For the PRESS:—

TRIBUTE TO OUR PRESIDENT.

There is gladness and rejoicing
In two great foreign lands;
The dawn of peace has settled
Upon Russia and Japan.
The armies and the navies,
On friendly footing meet;
With thankful hearts they bless the man
Who made their joy complete.

This man is one you all know well,
His heart is strong and true,
And the colors on his banner
Are our own red, white and blue.
In every clime, throughout the world,
His gentle power is felt;
All nations gladly praise the name
Of THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

The rich and poor, the young and old,
In our own native land,
Unite in warmest words of praise
For this grand, noble man.
And may God's greatest blessings be
In goodly numbers dealt,
To the people of America,
And to President Roosevelt.

We were there but regret our appetite was lacking, but Judge Walker and James Norie evened up the scales.

James A. Coppersmith, of Freeport, Pa., is visiting his brother F. S. Coppersmith and family at this place. Hope he may do it.

TO CATARRH SUFFERERS.

Hoymei Guaranteed to Cure by L. Taggart or Money Refunded.

The popularity and increase in the sales of Hyomei are unique in the annals of medicine. Such astonishing cures have been made by this remedy that the proprietors have authorized L. Taggart to sell every package of Hyomei under an absolute guarantee that it will cure catarrh. If it does not, the purchaser can have his money refunded by L. Taggart.

Hyomei is no ordinary remedy. It is the only method of treatment that sends by direct inhalation to the most remote part of the air passages, a balsamic air that destroys all catarrhal germs in the breathing organs, enriches and purifies the blood with additional ozone, and makes a permanent and complete cure of catarrh.

The complete Hyomei outfit costs but $1.00 and consists of an inhaler that can be carried in the vest pocket, a medicine dropper, and a bottle of Hyomei. The inhaler lasts a lifetime, and if one bottle does not cure, an extra bottle of Hyomei can be obtained for 50 cents. It is the most economical of all remedies advertised for the cure of catarrh, and is the only one that follows Nature in her methods of treating diseases of the respiratory organs.

Breathe through the inhaler for a few minutes four times a day, and your catarrh is cured. That's all.

If not cured, L. Taggart will refund your money.

The following card, sent out by a Detroit commercial club, is worth reading and pasting in your hat: "If there is any chance to boom business, boom it. Don't pull a long face and look as though you had a sour stomach. Hold up your head, smile and look for better things. Hide your little hammer and try to speak well of others, no matter how small you know yourself to be. When a stranger drops in jolly him, tell him it is the greatest town on earth. Don't discourage him by speaking ill of your neighbors. Lead him to believe that he has at last struck a place where white people live. Don't knock. Help yourself along by becoming popular and push your friends with you. Be a good fellow and soon you will have a procession of followers. No man ever helped himself by knocking other people down in character or business. No man ever got rich by trying to make others believe he was the only man in town who knew anything. You can't climb the ladder of success by treading on other people's corns."

Everybody reads the PRESS.

Letter to Sheriff Hemphill.

Emporium, Pa.

Dear Sir: You are so well known that the people have put you in office. They knew what they were about: They didn't do it by accident.

Wouldn't it be a handsome thing to do to paint your house? It is a nice house, has a good substantial commodious look, and it isn't rusty at all, you know; but a fresh coat of paint would make it so bright! it's a pitty not to.

Devoe is beautiful paint, but the beauty of it is: it lasts so long, and does so much more than adorn an already interesting and attractive edifice. House, outbuildings and fences. There isn't a man or woman in town, who wouldn't see them and make some pleasant remark.

Of course you will paint the town property; nothing would make your administration more, in the eyes of the people; and having done the same thing at home, it is the most natural thing in the world to do it for them.

Yours truly

A CONFESSION.

Do you remember, little wife,
How years ago we two together
Saw naught but love illumine life
In sunny days or winter weather?

Do you remember how we two
Would stare into each other's eyes,
Till all the earth grew heavenly blue,
And speech was lost in happy sighs?

Do you another thing recall,
That used to happen often then;
How, simply passing in the hall,
We'd stop to smile and kiss again?

Do you remember how I sat
And, reading, held your hand in mine,
Caressing it with gentle pat—
One pat for every blessed line?

Do you recall while at the play
Through hours of agony we tarried
The lovers' griefs brought us dismay:
Oh, we rejoiced when they were married.

Ah me, 'twas years and years ago
When all this happened that I sing,
And many a time the winter snow
Has slipped from olive slopes of spring.

And now—oh, nonsense! let us tell;
A fig for laugh of maids or men!
You'll hide your blushes? I'll not. Well—
We're ten times worse than we were then.

A ROSE OF NORMANDY

By WILLIAM R. A. WILSON

CHAPTER XVI—CONTINUED.

The governor came daily, and strove with real distress to encourage the sufferer. Madame Bizard appeared frequently too, telling her of the outside world and urging her to a quick convalescence. But somehow the desire to recover was lacking in the patient. It was as though a spring had snapped within her leaving inertia instead of energy, and a desire to slumber on in sweet forgetfulness rather than the determination to resume the weary load of life again. But her release was not to be, and as she slowly began to regain ground she found relief and her chiefest pleasure in the companionship of the nuns who nursed her. Their life in its seclusion and usefulness appealed to her heart, and gradually the fancy for a religious life became strengthened to a determination. Her own existence would always be a blank, and could she do better than to fill out her remaining years in the service of God? He had evidently had a purpose in permitting her to live, almost against her will.

When she first told Frontenac of her decision he stormed and swore he would ship her back to France; then, as he saw that she remained unshaken in her resolution, he finally suggested a compromise to which she agreed. This was that she was to remain with the nuns for two years as a donnee or religious helper who has taken no vows. If, after this novitiate she still persisted in her purpose, he would offer no objection to her entering the sisterhood. He hoped that in so long a period events would alter conditions in France so that she could be sent home in safety.

It was indeed the Comte de Miron whom Renee had seen as she looked out of the window. Tonti's sword-point in entering his breast had touched a rib and, glancing upwards, had wounded the lung tissue severely, barely missing the heart. The copious hemorrhage that followed well-nigh strangled him. His faithful coachman finding that he still breathed had taken him to a house on the outskirts of Paris, called a leech and summoned one of the Comte's friends, whose name he had given him before the duel for use in any such emergency. Together they combated the enormous loss of blood and weakness that followed. On convalescing, his friend, learning of the king's expression of satisfaction in the supposed death of the Comte, hurried him away to an estate in Brittany. There they abode together for many months, riding and hunting.

As spring came his faithful confidant went to Paris to see if it were safe for him to come to life again. He returned in a month with bad news. One of the Comte's numerous peculations in the state funds, which he had commitied while secretary to Colbert, had come to light, rendering it hazardous for him to appear again in Paris or even remain in France, for if by any chance he were apprehended it would mean the loss of his head. Accordingly, they laid their plans and he was hurried aboard the next ship that sailed for New France. This happened to be the one on which Renee traveled. Both of them seeking to escape observation seldom left their cabins. Hence it was that each was ignorant of the other's presence.

Bearing a letter to Duchesneau from a friend, the Comte presented himself at the palace immediately upon his arrival. Staying at the palace he soon became acquainted with all of Duchesneau's friends and agents. It was there that he met Madame Bizard, who had come to make her regular report to the intendant, of all she had learned. He had refrained from going about the city to any great extent, hence had never seen Renee; and it was while on an errand for Duchesneau that he had caught a glimpse of Madame Bizard's face at the window, and, remembering her invitation to call, had stopped. Well supplied with money, which he spent carelessly, he soon made many friends. Seeing the impression the young man had made upon the susceptible Madame Bizard, Duchesneau urged him to continue in his attentions, hoping that the young Comte might be thus thrown with Lieut. Bizard in a friendly way and ultimately win him over to the side of the intendant.

Frontenac before long became conscious of a new force that was aiding his enemy, insidiously undermining his influence among many of his adherents. He was at a loss to account for this, and it was some time ere he suspected the stranger. Finally, several discoveries confirmed his suspicions, and he realized that in the person of the young man there lay a useful ally for the intendant and a dangerous enemy to himself. He was powerless to do anything, however, as the Comte, although an acknowledged friend of Duchesneau, was still louder in his professions of friendship and respect for the governor and the colony, so Frontenac was obliged to bide his time until by some overt act or word he would lay himself liable to legal interference.

The mischief that he made became so great that the governor was desperate. At length an audacious speech made by the Comte de Miron one evening was reported to him. He saw his opportunity. The Comte was brought before the council, and several witnesses testified to having heard him boastingly remark that there was nothing like righting one's wrongs oneself, and that when the English cut off the head of Charles I. they did a good thing, besides several utterances of a similar tenor. He was, therefore, accused of speaking ill of royalty in the person of the king of England, and uttering words tending to sedition. The intendant and his followers in the council did their utmost to protect their ally, but in vain. Frontenac's influence carried the day and he was adjudged guilty. The governor forced the council to impose the most humiliating penalty possible, in order to discourage any others from taking up the cause of Duchesneau. Accordingly, he was dragged ignominiously from prison by the public executioner and led by a rope around his neck, with a torch in hand, to the gate of the Chateau, there to beg pardon of the king; thence to the pillory of the lower town, where he was branded on the cheek with a fleur-de-lis and set in the stocks for half an hour; then he was led back to prison and placed in irons. This was to be repeated three times.

The man while passing through the terrible ordeal of the day had seen the face of Madame Bizard in the crowd, who smiled and nodded encouragingly. They had become great friends, and the Comte was glad to find one kindly glance. The room in which he was confined was on the ground-floor of the Chateau. Scarcely had he thrown himself exhausted upon the bed placed beneath the little grated opening that admitted air and light, when a summons at the door engaged his guard's attention for the moment. Just at this juncture the prisoner felt something drop on his chest from above, and saw that a tiny parcel had been thrown in through the window. He quickly opened it and recognized a key fitting his fetters, wrapped in a piece of paper, on which was written:

"Escape to-night at 11; there is worse in store for you. You will find all the doors unlocked." There was no name signed, but he recognized the writing.

At dark his jailer left him and was replaced by four trusty soldiers of Frontenac. They examined his irons and then left him to himself, a seemingly half-unconscious being, huddled upon the bed near the door, which was fastened upon the inside by an iron cross-bar. After their conversation began to flag they stacked their arms, took the one light in the room to a further corner, leaving the bed in a half shadow, and proceeded to pass away the time with cards. The prisoner hearkened to a distant clock in the Chateau striking ten and heard the sounds of closing the building for the night as the inmates retired. Carefully he inserted the key into the lock of the iron on his right hand, which was freed; then into that of the left, and it was liberated also. Slowly he reached down, watching with half-closed eyes the group of soldiers in the corner attentive to their game, and withdrew his legs from the encircling fetters. He waited impatiently for the clock to sound 11 and wondered what he would do if he found his information false. Perhaps it was all a trap to induce him to attempt to escape! He would chance it. Eleven o'clock struck; the players laughed guardedly at their game. He arose, and with one bound seized the four guns.

The rattling noise attracted the attention of the soldiers, who started up only to find their prisoner freed and with one of the guns pointed at them. Before they recovered from their astonishment he had slipped the bolt; the door swung open. Speeding down the corridor, he found the doors that barred his way were all unfastened. He heard the shouts of alarm raised by the soldiers; the last door opened into the night air; he was free!

The next day all Quebec was astir with search-parties hunting for the escaped prisoner; he was not found. The day after it was learned that Madame Bizard had disappeared also.

CHAPTER XVII.

SHOWS HOW CLOSELY THE FORTUNES OF LOVE AND WAR MAY BE INTERWOVEN.

If the French had dangers and disturbances within the citadel of Quebec, the white settlers and seigneurs outside the protection of its guns were menaced by perils even more deadly. The great red plague had broken out again. From the southward it came creeping up in tiny patches here and there throughout the forest, stealing noiselessly through sunlight and shade, creeping stealthily from tree to tree, gliding steadily onward towards the north. Often two or more of these patches met, coalesced, then moved ahead again, growing more wary as the river was approached, hiding behind rotting logs and beneath tangled underbrush all the day and issuing forth at night to resume the broken journey. At last the outer edge of the pest reached the brink of the St. Lawrence and peered furtively from behind the parted foliage for any sight of life upon the surface of the water, then retreated into the darkness, there to skulk in fiendish preparation. Along the shore it sped opposite Quebec and down the river towards the sea.

One night the settlers heard the moaning of the wind and the splashing of the spring rain, and smiled and thought how needful it was for the tender, growing crops. But men neither smile nor tend crops when the red plague is abroad. That night the stream was crossed and the unseen scourge spread itself through the miasmatic bogs, hiding within the dark recesses of the virgin woods, all silent, mysterious, noxious. Then when all the clearings had been surrounded and the darkness of a cloudy night had rendered it a fit season for things foul and infernal, the pestilence lying dormant in the hidden places of the land awoke.

There was the silence of death without; no wind stirred the leaves; the very wild beasts had fled in terror, leaving their haunts vacant and dumb; the earth seemed to shudder as if in horror of the grewsome flood her surface would have to drink that night. A red light flashed its glare upon the darkness; a savage yell broke the tension of the awful moment; a woman's scream pierced the very heart of nature; a stream of blood gleamed near the flames—the red plague had come, and the woods were filled with the flitting forms of human demons as the bloodthirsty Iroquois rushed to the attack.

After her recovery Renee had given herself over to her new work with an enthusiasm that the nuns applauded. Until she regained her strength she was kept employed with her needle. Eventually she was permitted to carry out her great desire, that of nursing the sick. Soon the fame of "L'Ange," the beautiful nurse, spread through all the town and many tales were told of her angelic sweetness by the poor fellows after their recovery. She was kept busy with her merciful ministrations, for the hand of disease lay heavy on the place that winter, and many settlers, their strength reduced by the scarcity of provisions, due to the crop's failure of the previous season, fell victims to numerous diseases and were brought to the nuns for their gentle care.

Often calls came from the outlying seigniories for nurses to go and attend those too ill to be removed to the city. These were cheerfully answered by the nuns, Renee going several times herself. It was in response to one of these demands in early spring that she begged permission of Frontenac to go. The comte hesitated an instant, because the seigniory to which she was summoned lay some ten leagues up the river, farther off than any previous call had been. But as there was no special reason for fearing immediate trouble with the Indians, and he could send a goodly party to escort her, he could not find it in his heart to refuse her urgent request.

The little settlement to which she went consisted of half a dozen farms, each with a house of the farmer upon it. At a spot centrally located was the home of the seigneur, flanked with various buildings, among which was a blockhouse where was kept the powder and other warlike munitions, including a small cannon. This was built to serve as the last defense against an attacking force. About the group of buildings was a palisade, with a bastion erected at each corner. In times of trouble with the Indians the families retired to this enclosure, abandoning temporarily their homes. The seigneur and his wife had spent the winter in Montreal, leaving affairs in charge of the head farmer. Through improper management two of the servants employed about the seigniory had fallen ill with scurvy and were in good chance of dying from sheer neglect, hence the urgent message for help sent to Quebec.

When Renee arrived there she found besides the sick men a couple of half-grown girls, two boys, sons of the seigneur, aged 10 and 12, and an old man of 80, also the wife of one of the farmers, who stayed to do the cooking, and two soldiers loaned by Frontenac to guard the seigneur's possessions in his absence. The other dependants were scattered about on the outlying farms with their families, all hands at work as befitted the season.

Renee managed within a few days after her arrival to secure some order out of the confusion, and her attention to cleanliness and matters of diet soon showed good results in the improved condition of her patients. The little spare time she had for herself she usually spent in walking down to the landing place or strolling along the bank of the stream. One afternoon while standing with the younger of the two boys looking up and down the river, while he played at skipping stones, she noticed several times a sound as of the muffled reports of firearms. Thinking it strange, she gazed in the direction from whence the noise came, and was surprised to see a woman suddenly emerge from the woods and run speeding across the clearing towards the house. "The Iroquois!" she cried in terror. Renee's young companion stopped his play, and, after shading his eyes and gazing intently an instant, seized her hand, exclaiming, "Run, mademoiselle, run! Here come the Indians!" and as he spoke she saw some 50 or 60 painted savages break from cover. As they sped towards the gate, the brave boy urged her on, yet keeping a pace behind so as to guard her. The distance was but short, and the Indians, seeing they could not capture them, stopped and began to fire. The bullets whizzed by the ears of the fugitives, but they remained unhurt. The woman reached the gate before them and would have shut it in their faces had not Renee called to her to wait. Once inside, the two fastened it securely. Renee hastened to find the men, but no one was in sight. There was little time to lose, so after sending the boy to find them she set about herself to inspect the defenses. It had been so long since any danger had presented itself that they had been allowed to get out of repair. She found that several of the palisades had fallen down, leaving openings through which the enemy could easily enter. By this time the boy had returned, bringing with him only his brother and the octogenarian, both of them willing but feeble hands. The soldiers and the women were not to be found. With encouraging words Renee made use of the material she had, and with their assistance soon raised the fallen palisades into position again. She then directed one of the boys to fire at the Indians from the loopholes, while the other beat a drum violently. She then went to the blockhouse where the ammunition was stored and there found the two soldiers huddled up in a dark corner with the women folks, one hiding his head, the other with a lighted match in his hand.

"What are you doing?" Renee cried.

"I shall light the powder and blow us all up," was the reply.

"You are a miserable coward! Leave this place!" was her contemptuous command.

Finding herself thus deserted of all expected aid, Renee's spirit rose, so, throwing aside her head-gear, she put on a man's hat and, seizing a gun, called to the two boys, saying: "Let us fight to the death. We are fighting for our country and our religion. Remember that gentlemen are born to shed their blood for the service of God and the king. I, too, am of gentle blood and will serve with you."

Rebelled at Last.

He was a suburban amateur gardener, whose pride in his tiny garden was apt to bore his friends.

The other day he had taken a visitor round his retreat, expatiating at length on the four rose trees, pocket shrubbery, half-inch fountain jet, with its little basin and pair of gold fish, and the summer-house which would almost admit two persons at once.

The long-suffering endured it all without retort, until he was asked to admire a 20-foot "vista." Then the worm turned.

"The 'grounds' are certainly very handsome," he 'said, "but I think you might improve them considerably."

"How so?" questioned the owner, divided between gratification and wounded pride.

"Well, if I were you," suggested his critic, blandly, I should take a strip off that flower-bed-say four inches wide-turf it over, and convert it into golf links!"—Stray Stories.

Fell Down Again.

Mr. Makinbrakes was congratulating the hostess on the success of the reception.

"It's astonishing," he said, "to see how many nice people you have succeeded in getting here this evening, though, of course, it isn't at all astonishing. They—they've got to go somewhere, you know, and—well, what I mean is that—as I was saying to that well-known doctor over there by the—er—artificial palm—I can't remember his name just now—I was saying to him that the refreshments alone would compensate one for coming here, even if—because they really are surprisingly good. Mrs. Thompson—Johnson, I mean—and I shouldn't have said surprisingly, either, because, when it comes to refreshments, everybody knows you are—don't you think 'Parsifal' is just a little too sombre, Mrs. Johnson?"—Chicago Tribune.

The Doctor Was Out.

She was a maid who had been with the doctor for years, and the habitual expressions of those years could not be easily laid aside.

When the doctor died she remained at the house. An old friend of the doctor, who had been abroad and had not heard of his death, called and was admitted.

"I would like to see Dr. H," he said.

"I'm sorry," said the maid, "but the doctor is dead!"

Stricken by this dread intelligence, the visitor sat silent for some minutes.

After waiting some time the maid ventured timidly—

"Will you—will you—wait?"—Lippincott's Magazine.

Determined to Be First.

A mother of three little boys who had gone to the country to spend the summer received the following postal from the eldest:

"Dear Mother: "I wanted to be the first to write to you, so wrote this before I left home, and will mail it when we reach Livingston. We are all well and sound.

"Excuse the writing, because you keep coming into the room. Your loving son, William."

The mother had said she would send a dime to the one who wrote the first, and Master William had determined to beat his brothers, so he literally "took time by the forelock."—Lippincott's.

The Old One.

A clergyman was preaching on the "Parable of the Prodigal Son," and when it came to killing the fatted calf he endeavored to heighten the interest by the following touch:

"Not a calf, but the calf: the old familiar calf that had been in the family for years and years and years."—Smith's Weekly.

"I suffered with eczema all over my body. My face was covered; my eyebrows came out. I had tried three doctors, but did not get any better. I then went to another doctor. ## DIDN'T MARRY THE COOK.

Luncher in Love with Pie Wanted to Secure the Maker Thereof.

"By gosh! this is fine pie; the kind that mother used to make!" gleefully exclaimed the tall, lank easterner standing before the lunch counter, as he put away his third portion, when the train stopped 15 minutes for refreshments at a little station in the far west. "Let me have another piece of that apple pie, waiter. It's all right, you can bet!" he drawled, with a feeling of deep satisfaction.

After he had disposed of the fourth slice, says the New York Times, the New Englander turned to the waiter and said: "Say, boss, that was the best pie I've eaten since I left home. I swore I'd never get married. But, by gosh! anyone that can make pie like that can be my wife. Bring on the cook, and, by Heavens! I'll marry her."

"Do you mean it?" asked the waiter, with a twinkle in his eye.

"Every word of it," answered the pie enthusiast.

The waiter disappeared into the kitchen, returning a minute later leading a slant-eyed and pig-tailed Chinaman with a bland smile upon his face. "This is the cook, boss," he said. "It's up to you."

Amid the roar of laughter from the other passengers the poor New Englander rushed back to the train.

REMINDED HIM OF HOME.

Rough Weather on the Ocean Made Kansan Think He Was Back on the Farm.

A Kansan crossing the Atlantic in rough weather went out on deck when a big gale was blowing. Nobody was in sight except the captain, relates the Kansas City Journal.

"Go below there," the captain shouted.

The passenger looked around to see whom he was talking to.

"You mean me?" he yelled back when he saw there was no one else in sight.

"Of course I do; go below," and the captain came alongside.

"Well, I guess not," protested the Kansan. "I'm up here to see how one of your mountain-high waves and 'terrific gales' compare with what we have in Kansas in the way of cyclones. This ain't a patch to what I've seen out our way."

A big wave broke over the deck, sweeping the Kansan aft. They picked him up with a broken leg, a twisted shoulder, a sprained wrist, and his face looked as if it had been dragged backward through a briar patch. When he came to he saw the captain.

"By gravy, cap," he said, feebly, "that reminded me of home, only it was a dern sight wetter."

HONEST PHYSICIAN

Works with Himself First.

It is a mistake to assume that physicians are always skeptical as to the curative properties of anything else than drugs.

Indeed, the best doctors are those who seek to heal with as little use of drugs as possible and by the use of correct food and drink. A physician writes from Calif. to tell how he made a well man of himself with Nature's remedy:

"Before I came from Europe, where I was born," he says, "it was my custom to take coffee with milk (cafe au lait) with my morning meal, a small cup (cafe noir) after my dinner and two or three additional small cups at my club during the evening.

"In time nervous symptoms developed, with pains in the cardiac region, and accompanied by great depression of spirits, despondency—in brief, 'the blues!' I at first tired medicines, but got no relief and at last realized that all my troubles were caused by coffee. I thereupon quit its use forthwith, substituting English Breakfast Tea.

"The tea seemed to help me at first, but in time the old distressing symptoms returned, and I quit it also, and tried to use milk for my table beverage. This I was compelled however to abandon speedily for while it relieved the nervousness somewhat, it brought on constipation. Then by a happy inspiration I was led to try the Postum Food Coffee. This was some months ago and I still use it. I am no longer nervous, nor do I suffer from the pains about the heart, while my 'blues' have left me and life is bright to me once more. I know that leaving off coffee and using Postum healed me, and I make it a rule to advise my patients to use it." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

There's a reason.

INDUSTRY & MECHANICS

"GOLD SHIP" AND ITS WORK

Remarkable Dredge Which Operates in Its Own Pond and Works Over Old Gold Placers.

The present yield of gold is double what it was ten years ago, amounting to $1,000,000 a day; but within the next ten years it bids fair to double again—so we are told by no less an authority than Alexander Del Mar, writing in the Engineering Magazine. The increase in the past, he says, has been due to the abandonment of silver mining, and the invention of the cyanide process. That in the future will be caused by the use of the gold dredge, which he calls "a weird invention, a wonderful thing, a 'gold ship' that moves over the land and . . . extracts every particle of gold out of the long-neglected placers." This "phantom ship" is now beginning to clean up the abandoned placers of California and will soon be doing the same for Siberia, Brazil and Peru. Says Mr. Del Mar:

"All these placers or auriferons can be profitably worked over by the gold dredge and more gold taken from them than they have already yielded. The reason of this is that ... or never touches the poorer portions of a placer, and that from the richer portions it rarely succeeds in winning more than from a half to two-thirds of the gold; whereas the dredge gets it all. . . . Placer mining came to a stop in Egypt and Spain when their product fell to the level of hand labor; it stopped in Brazil partly for the same reason, and partly because, the gravel being small and fine, the placer fields are nearly flat, and the mines are 'out of grade.' It stopped in California because the tailings choked up the rivers and the law courts interdicted the hydraulic process. In Australia it had almost passed the level of hand labor when the gold dredge was invented. In Alaska, though stopped in winter time for lack of running water, it is still going on during the summer time, when the streams are released from frost. In none of these countries was placer mining arrested because there was no more gold in the gravel, but for the other reasons stated, all of which are now remedied by the gold dredge. This invention supersedes hand labor by machinery; it requires no 'grade' or declivity down which to sluice its gravel; it will choke no river; it needs only enough water to float itself in and to wash the gold with; and all of this water it can, and does, use over and over again. It is as much at home in the arid but auriferous deserts of Arizona, as in the golden marshes of the Feather river."

What is this "gold ship?" It is simply a dredge that floats in a pond of its own making—a pond which accompanies it wherever it chooses to go, and which enables it to move over the land in any direction. It scoops up the gravel, subjects it on its decks to the action of any desired process, mechanical or chemical—and then, having exhausted it of its gold, casts the gravel behind, and keeps on advancing, until the field before it is sifted and treated from surface to bedrock. To quote further:

"As the ground can be thoroughly tubed and sampled beforehand, this process lifts gold mining from the category of speculative enterprises to that of a manufacturing business. The gold dredge is a gold manufactory, with an insatiable demand and assured market for its product, at the rate of $20.17 per Troy ounce fine, paid down by the mints in gold coin. No risk, no idle stock on hand, no bad debts, no commissions, brokerages, or discounts, nor no monopoly of trade, now or ever possible. An instant sale for the entire produce at a fixed price, paid in cash. Such are the incomparable conditions of the gold manufacturing business. It goes without saying that, unless the cost of taking part in it is beyond the ordinary means of business men, such an industry will not fail to invite a vast number of participants. This contingency can be settled at once. The dredges cost from $35,000 to $50,000 each, according to size; a sum within the means of the average business man, commercial partnership or small corporation. . . .

"Like most other inventions, the gold ship is a development. A gold dredge was used on the Magdalena river 20 years ago; the device was further developed several years later in New Zealand; it was brought almost to perfection in California; at the present time, a dozen machine shops, scattered all over the United States, are rivaling one another in turning out a more and more perfect dredge. The home demand for these machines is so urgent that but few have as yet been shipped abroad; yet several of them have already gone to South America and several more to Europe. The present rate of out-turn is about one machine per week; in the course of a few years it will be one per diem; in ten years it will probably be ten machines per diem. When this takes place, and perhaps before it, the world's production of gold, even should the quartz mines yield no more than at present, will be $2,000,000 a day."

THE PRINCE OF BUTLERS.

His Resourcefulness Saved His Mistress in an Awkward Situation.

The late Thomas Coldwell, the inventor of the lawn mower, was a great admirer of witty and alert persons.

At a dinner in New York Mr. Coldwell said of a famous millionaire:

"This man, through hard luck, once had to work as a butler. He made an excellent butler. Let me give you an instance of the sort of work he did.

"His mistress was giving a dinner party of 12 covers on a certain evening. One of the courses consisted of scalloped oysters in silver shells. The set of silver shells was broken—there were only 11. The mistress, therefore, told the butler that she would not eat any oysters, and thus there would be just enough to go around.

"The butler, when the oyster course came, placed before the lady one of the shells. To his horror, she did not decline it. Calmly she let it rest before her. If she started to eat it, one guest would be short of oysters. What was the matter with her, anyhow?

"The butler watched her nervously. She took up her fork. She was actually about to plunge it into the dainty shell. Then the man, ever alert and ready, flew to her side and bent over her respectfully:

"'Pardon me, madam,' he murmured, 'but you said I was to remind you that the doctor forbade your eating oysterds on any account.'"

Impertinent Poet.

"Why," said Mrs. Oldcastle, "did your daughter break her engagement to that handsome young poet?"

"He insulted us," replied her hostess, as she carelessly ran her fingers through the pages of a $3,500 copy of "Squints and Glances." "In a poem he wrote about her he said she had lambent eyes, and Josiah just wouldn't stand for that, because it was an insinuation about us gettin' rich in the meat business."—Chicago Record-Herald.

In Temptation's Way.

"This is the first time you have been to prayer-meeting in a long time," said the pastor of a colored congregation.

"I had to come," replied Mr. Erastus Pinkley. "I needs strength'nin'. I'se got a job whitewashin' a chicken coop an' buildin' a fence around a watermelon patch."—Washington Star.

Cure to Stay Cured.

Wapello, Iowa, Sept. 11th, (Special).—One of the most remarkable cures ever recorded in Louisa County is that of Mrs. Minnie Hart of this place. Mrs. Hart was in bed for eight months, and when she was able to sit up she was all drawn up on one side, and could not walk across the room. Dodd's Kidney Pills cured her. Speaking of her cure Mrs. Hart says:

"Yes, Dodd's Kidney Pills cured me after I was in bed for eight months, and I know the cure was complete, for that was three years ago, and I have not been down since. In four weeks from the time I started taking them I was able to make my garden. Nobody can know how thankful I am to be cured or how much I feel I owe to Dodd's Kidney Pills."

This case again points out how much the general health depends on the Kidneys. Cure the Kidneys with Dodd's Kidney Pills and nine-tenths of the suffering the human family is heir to will disappear.

NOISES IN HER HEAD

Mrs. Reagan was a Nervous Wreck, But Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Brought Sound Health.

"Before I began to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills," said Mrs. Mary Reagan, of No. 86 Kilburn street, Fall River, Mass., recently, "I was in and out of bed all the time, but now I stay up all day and do all my own work.

"I was badly run down from overwork. One day noises began in my head and almost made me crazy. My head felt as if a tight band had been put around it, and the pressure and the sounds made me so uneasy that I often had to walk the floor all night.

"My stomach was in bad shape, and I had smothering sensations. At such times my body seemed bloodless, my hands were like chalk and my face turned yellow. The doctor said I had dyspepsia in the worst form. Then my nerves gave way and I was completely prostrated. I frequently suffered from smothering sensations.

"The first box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills that I used quieted my nerves so that I could get a good night's sleep, which was a new experience for me. Before I began to use them I was a nervous wreck and trembled at the slightest sound. I was so weak that I had to sit down and rest every few steps when I went up stairs. Now I can run up a whole flight at once. The smothering sensations have gone and the noises in my head have stopped entirely. My appearance has greatly improved, for friends who were alarmed on my account before, now say: 'How well you are looking!' My husband spent over a hundred dollars on treatment for me that was worthless, but a few boxes of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills brought me sound health."

THUNDER IN A GOBLET

Did you ever hear of thunder in a goblet? Of course, it would have to be miniature thunder, or it would shatter the goblet; and, indeed, it is so small an edition of it that the noise is like the popping of a cork from a bottle. But the principle of the thunder is, nevertheless, there—that side air makes them adhere more closely because the vacuum is greater.

You may think that it is the rubber band that is holding the goblets together, but still another experiment will show you that the only purpose served by the band is to make a tight is, the inrushing of air to fill a vacuum.

Here is a pretty experiment showing this: Take two goblets and place them mouth to mouth; then put around them, where the brims meet, a rubber band about an inch in width, to prevent the passage of air.

Try now to pull them apart, and you will find that they stick together very closely, so closely, indeed, that you may swing them as a pendulum without their separating. But pull with still more force and they will come apart with the noise that I have mentioned.

Let us make another experiment with them. Immerse them in water contained in a vessel large enough to hold them both readily, and while still under water place them mouth to mouth. Put the rubber band around them while they are in this condition, and having taken them out of the water you will find that you can swing them as before, and that to pull them apart requires more force than when they were empty. The reason, explains the Chicago Inter Ocean, is that the water does not expand like air, so that, the moment you begin to pull the goblets apart, the vacuum is formed; and the pressure of the outjoint so that air cannot pass through it. Cut a ring from a sheet of rubber and put the goblets under water as before. Into one of them put a piece of ice, and over its brim place the rubber ring, bringing the other goblet against the ring, too, so that they are mouth to mouth, with only the flat rubber ring between them.

Now, when the ice begins to melt, the contents of that goblet contract, forming a vacuum, and the pressure of the outside air holds the goblets so closely together that you may handle them out of the water without their separating.

To have perfect success with these experiments it is only necessary to use care in preparing for them.

Geese and Feather Beds.

The plains of Hungary are well adapted for the raising of geese, and travelers in that country are often entertained by seeing, from passing trains, great flocks of geese feeding in the fields and watched by gooseherds. So many feathers are yielded by these geese that four "bed-feather markets" are held annually at Buda-Pesth, and at each market from 600,000 to 700,000 pounds of bed feathers are placed on sale.

"Where Ignorance Is Bliss 'Tis Folly to Be Wise"

In some parts of the world they still use a sharp stick and a cow to plough their fields and goodness only knows how they can ever make that kind of agriculture pay, even where labor is cheap.

In many parts of this glorious up-to-date country the women still make abject slaves of themselves over the wash-tub, the same as their great, great grandmothers did more than a century ago.

In the one instance, the antiquated heathen doesn't know a plough from a pumpkin and would be afraid to use one if he did.

On the other hand, what shall we say of a woman of the present day who clings to the old method of washing clothes when the small sum necessary to buy a Majestic Rotary Washing Machine will save her labor, time, money and fatigue and give the most absolute satisfaction in every way.

DISGRUNTLED COMBINE

Leading Men In Lincoln Party Were Turned Down For Office.

ARE NOW OUT FOR REVENGE

Republican Chairman Andrews Receives Reports That Show Party Wreckers Will Be Ignominously Routed.

[Special Correspondence.]

Philadelphia, Sept. 19.

There has been a clearing of the political atmosphere in the last few days. The Republican managers have every reason to be elated over recent developments. The substitution of an entire new set of local Republican candidates, after the voluntary withdrawal of the original nominees in the interest of party harmony has had a far-reaching influence toward cementing and strengthening the Republican forces in this city.

The selection of Dr. Neff, a prominent member of the Union League and medical director of the Jefferson Hospital, for sheriff, the renomination of Coroner Dugan, in response to the request of many citizens, the naming of William Emsley, an ex-department commander of the Grand Army, and Howard A. Chase, another leading member of the Union League for commissioners, has given the Republicans a ticket of which they may well be proud.

Steps will be immediately taken for an aggressive local campaign, and there is no doubt of the election of the entire Republican ticket by a large majority.

Disappointed Office-Seekers.

From the interior counties Chairman Wesley R. Andrews, of the Republican state committee continues to receive the most gratifying reports.

The so-called Lincoln party has been demonstrated to be little more than a combination of office-seekers. Their efforts to draw votes from the Republican ticket will not have substantial results.

An idea of the character of the men in the movement may be formed from the fact that H. C. Niles, of York, who figures as state chairman, was twice defeated for the Republican nomination for superior judge. When he presented resolutions in the York county convention in line with the platform of the Lincoln party he got but three votes in favor of them, and one of these votes was his own. George E. Mapes, the secretary, has been voting against Republican candidates for years. Former Senator Emery, of McKean, was defeated by the Republicans when he ran as an independent candidate for congress, and he has never forgotten or forgiven the leaders of the Republican organization who defeated him. He is out for revenge. Charles Heber Clark, of Montgomery, who presided over the Lincoln party convention, is disgruntled because President Roosevelt declined to appoint him to a position in the department of commerce and labor. Clark has been fighting the Republican party for years. He is a pronounced free silverite. Former Congressman Brumm, of Schuylkill, another conspicuous figure among the Lincolnites, has a record as an original Greenbacker. He was an applicant for position under McKinley and Roosevelt and was turned down. He now, too, wants to reform the Republican party.

Former Congressman Thropp, of Bedford county, who was chairman of the committee on resolutions of the Lincoln party, is a disappointed and disgruntled office-seeker. He was turned down for re-election to congress by the Republicans of his district, and he has ever since been working against Republican nominees, but he has no following at home.

These are but a few of the men who are running the Lincoln party. Their only hope for recognition in the future line lies in the disruption of the Republican party.

The loyal Republicans of Pennsylvania will not permit them to succeed in their party-wrecking campaign.

They will snow them under in an avalanche of Republican ballots in November.

Inside facts soon become evident in outside symptoms.—DR. G. G. GREEN.

¶The aid of scientific inventions is not needed to determine whether your lungs are affected. The first symptoms can be readily noted by anyone of average intelligence.

¶There is no disease known that gives so many plain warnings of its approach as consumption, and no serious disease that can be so quickly reached and checked, if the medicine used is Dr. Boschee's German Syrup, which is made to cure consumption.

¶It is in the early stages that German Syrup should be taken, when warnings are given in the cough that won't quit, the congestion of the bronchial tubes and the gradual weakening of the lungs, accompanied by frequent expectoration.

¶But no matter how deep-seated your cough, even if dread consumption has already attacked your lungs, German Syrup will surely effect a cure—as it has done before in thousands of apparently hopeless cases of lung trouble.
